Dear Sir:

Your letter of 2 June 1959, addressed to the "Central Intelligence Bureau, Washington, D. C.," has been referred to this office. We note that you contemplate a trip to the United States in early 1960, to include a few days in Washington as a tourist.

It appears that you may have intended to address your letter to the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), which conducts regular guided tours of portions of its establishment. These tours are made frequently, and you would probably have no difficulty in joining one if you made local application upon arriving in Washington. If you wish to inquire for particulars, however, we suggest that you address your letter as follows:

Federal Bureau of Investigation
9th Street and Pennsylvania Avenue, N. W.
Washington, D. C.

It is hoped that your visit to the United States will be a most enjoyable one.

Sincerely,

CONFIDENTIAL

Dear Sir,

It is my intention to commene a holiday in the U.S.A. in the early part of 1960 and I intend to spend a few days in Washington . Whilst I'm in Washington
I wonder whether you might permit me to have a look through your dept? First of all though, I'd better point out that I have no connection with any Police Force over here and I make this request solely as a private tourist.

If you consider that you could accede to my request, I would be very grateful indeed.

Thanking you in anticipation of your favourable reply (by air mail if possible),

I am,

Yours Faithfully,
